(Los Angeles, August 20, 2008) – iPOP! (International Presentation of Performers) a top tier talent convention and a must-go-to event for any talented child, teenager or young adult who can act, sing, model or dance will be awarding participants who submit video on www.youtube.com a free trip to the next iPOP! event taking place from January 3-6, 2009 in Los Angeles. iPOP! has been encouraging teenagers and young adults to post their favorite videos of themselves on You Tube either acting, modeling, singing or dancing. Several videos have been appearing on the popular You Tube site over the past several weeks and a few submitted videos are definitely standing out.

John Moua from Seattle posted his audition video a few weeks ago and has been singled out as a standout for his www.youtube.com video posting. John Moua a student of John Robert Powers Seattle has crafted a nine minute video that includes video and music montages of John's experience at the last iPOP! event that he competed in Las Vegas in July 2008. In the You Tube video spot John Moua cleverly mentions how he placed 1st in the headshots division and placed in the top 10 for scenes, acting and commercial categories. In the You Tube video John uses shots filmed from his own video camera of teen celebrities presenting at the iPOP! awards night including Adrian R'Mante from Disney Channel's "The Suite Life of Zack and Cody" and Shane Harper from the reality television series 'Dance on Sunset' and the group 'Nick 6.'

iPOP! will be selecting a winner whose video posting on You Tube receives the most viewings and whose video shows the most potential for talent. John Moua's video posting can be viewed at <http://www.youtube.com/user/johnnyjrmoua> or go to www.youtube.com and type in iPOP! 2008.

Children, teenagers and young adults are being encouraged to post their videos showcasing their individual talent potential in modeling, acting, singing and/or dancing. Winners selected from www.youtube.com will be given a free trip to iPOP! Los Angeles 2008 where they will have an opportunity to compete and audition along with twelve hundred plus children, teens and young adults who will participate at the iPOP! convention. These iPOP! contestants will get a taste for Hollywood; they will get a chance to perform live on stage and in front of photography and video cameras as they audition for their chance to be the next top actor, model, singer and dancer in show business today. This year's group of iPOP! contestants will be introduced to the highest regarded agents, managers, producers and talent scouts in entertainment today.

Auditions will be held for the best headshot, commercial print, scene, monologue and TV commercials. Auditions will also be held for male and female top swimsuit honors, best fashion print, runway, best singer and best dancer. If a child, teen or young adult has talent, they will be noticed, discovered and signed. The word is out amongst the top agents and managers in Hollywood and New York, iPOP! has tapped the best undiscovered children, teens and young adults in entertainment and if they are looking for the next Miley Cyrus and Hillary Duff, iPOP! is the place for agents to find the new talent.

“We’re very excited to select a special winner from the iPOP! You Tube audition process,” iPOP! President, Joseph Beauchamp said, “So many children, teenagers and young adults don’t have an opportunity to drive to big cities and audition for Hollywood agents, managers and talent scouts. So we’re thrilled the kids have a chance to post their talent on You Tube.”
